Opening Keynote Panel

Leading the NHS response to the global climate and health emergency: A view from the top

In this opening session we'll hear how NHSE are responding to the outcomes from COP26, learnings from the Covid-19 response and how international commitments are shaping domestic actions to reach net-zero. Within this context we'll be asking what this means for the NHS and the ambition to become the world's first healthcare system to reach net zero carbon emissions.

We'll also hear from inspirational NHS board-level leaders and how they're embedding sustainability into the heart of their organisations, developing the infrastructure, culture and partnerships that will sustain a priority focus through system recovery. We'll be exploring how to overcome the tensions and challenges in delivering on sustainability goals – and share lessons and ideas for success.

Dr Nick Watts, Chief Sustainability Officer, NHS England
